

After having lived overseas for many years my wife and I moved to Chilcompton in 2010. Locally, I am deeply interested in all natural and environmental matters, especially in regard to the river and also in how responsibilities are split between local and district governance.